Friends in Basketball,

As the summer winds down and another academic year is upon us, I hope that this letter finds each of you refreshed, reenergized, and looking forward to the upcoming season. As I begin the second year of my term as President of the BCANY, it seems like an appropriate time to both look back on some of our recent highlights and to look forward to the issues, challenges, and goals that are in front of us as coaches and as an association as we head into another year.

Earlier this summer the BCANY executive board met with Robert Zayas, the Executive Director of the New York State Public High School Athletic Association. We discussed a variety of topics that are affecting high school basketball, and athletics in general, including restoration of games, service games, bullying, coach's job security, and private and charter schools. I found Mr. Zayas to be very forward thinking and progressive. He seems to have a sincere interest in working with our association for the betterment of the game, and I'm looking forward to a strengthened relationship between the NYSPHSAA and BCANY.

One of our next major activities on the horizon is the 32nd annual Fall Clinic and Conference. This year's clinic will again be held at SUNY Cortland, on October 4th & 5th. The clinic is a great professional development opportunity, and will feature another outstanding lineup of speakers, including Hall of Famer Jim Boeheim, Dave Paulsen of Bucknell, new Siena head man Jimmy Patsos, Bill Courtney of Cornell, Katie Abrahamson-Henderson from U-Albany, and Better Basketball founder Rick Torbett. The other great aspect of the clinic is the opportunity to get together with coaches from around the state to network and socialize. Mark your calendars now. I hope to see many of you in Cortland in October.

I would also like to encourage each of you, and all coaches at all levels throughout the state, to renew your membership for the upcoming year, or to join BCANY for the first time if you haven't joined in the past. Beyond that, I would also like to call on every BCANY member to become more active in the organization in a couple of very specific ways. The first is for every member to have a goal of bringing a new member into the association. Reach out to the coaches on your own staff, and also in your league, section, or area. The BCANY is your professional organization dedicated to the defending and enhancing the game statewide, and that's a mission that we all can and should get behind. The second thing that I would like to call on each of you to do is to become active in BCANY, especially at your league, area, or sectional level. We are in the process of developing more of a local chapter structure within the association, and that will provide many opportunities for everyone's particular strengths and interests.

As individual coaches and as an organization, we are navigating uncharted territory. Our players have more opportunities than ever before - summer leagues, travel teams, individual instruction, camps, personal trainers, strength & conditioning specialists. However, with these opportunities come more influences on our players, often times giving them a message that may not be the same as the one that we are communicating. At the same time, our society has developed a heightened sensitivity to things like physical and psychological abuse, bullying, hazing, and language that may be construed as offensive, and incidents like the Mike Rice situation at Rutgers have placed all coaches much more under the microscope. The key to not only survive, but thrive in our current climate will often be to modify some of our past practices and behaviors without compromising our core values. This is an area where we can really help each other and it's an area where BCANY can and will take a leadership role.

Finally, as I have said before in these letters, nobody understands the things that we go through as coaches better than other coaches. Between the lines, we all are highly competitive and we all want to win in the worst way. However, outside the lines we need to continue to support, mentor, and learn from each other. That's how our profession, and the game itself will continue to flourish.

Remember that we do what we do because of the impact that we can have on young people. Best of luck to all of you for a successful and rewarding year!

Yours in hoops,
Dave Pasiak

Summer Hoops Fest 2013 Highlights

Adirondack Boys, 2013 Champions

Rochester Girls, 2013 Champions

Our 3rd annual Summer Hoops Festival brought many of the best high school players from across the state to Johnson City for a great weekend of competition.

The Hoops Festival has quickly become a highlight on the summer basketball calendar for players, parents, BCANY members, and college recruiters. Great work by tournament committee members Mark Weitach, Ben Nelson, Dave Powers, Kurt Ehrensbeck, Stan Evans, Buddy Wleklinski, Dave Archer, and Chris Russo. Also, many thanks to Jason Leone, Alyssa Polosky, and Justin Stern for participating in the college recruiting seminar for parents, to the officials from Binghamton and around the state that worked the games, and to the folks at the Johnson City School District for hosting the event.
